Dear LOAA Members,

I'm looking forward to seeing you all at the 30th anniversary lunch on October 2, 2008, at the La Vista Conference Center at the Embassy Suites in La Vista. Rebecca Ryan, founder of Next Generation Consulting, Inc., will kick off the festivities as luncheon keynote speaker.

You won't want to miss her presentation. Ms. Ryan will be talking specifically about how to engage multiple generations of community leaders in trusteeship as we make Omaha a great place to live, work, and play.

In addition, LOAA and the Nonprofit Association of the Midlands are presenting a boardmanship seminar on October 29 from 4:00 to 6:30 at the new Collaborating Commons at the University of Nebraska Omaha. Whether you currently serve on a board, manage a board or want to know more about important board governance issues affecting us today, please join us for an insightful panel discussion sure to provide even the most experienced community leaders with a few 'ah-ha's about boardmanship. Watch mail and e-mail for more details. We'll also have opportunities for sponsorship and tables for lunch for both companies and classes. Which class can gather the most members for the celebration? Check out the information below for more details about this event.

Sincerely,

Leadership Omaha
